

2024 /NOV/22 ENGLISH LISTENING COMPETITION

This semester's English listening competition was held on November 29. Top students in class are recommended to participate, regardless of grade, allowing everyone to compete with each other. This time, perhaps due to the difficulty of the questions, the overall results were not as good as last time. However, some students still performed exceptionally well. We hope this testing experience will serve as a practice for everyone in the TOEIC or other language assessments, leading to better performances next time.
